Let's jump right into the action by setting up a 10-minute chart specifically for the NQ Futures market. We'll incorporate two fundamental indicators, the Relative Strength Index (RSI) and the Exponential Moving Average (EMA), which are standard built-in features in most platforms. In case your platform lacks these indicators, fret not; you'll receive dedicated code files for each as part of this comprehensive NQ Boost system guide.

To begin, let's establish a visual representation of the setup using a series of screenshots presented in a sequential order: